

Press Release 16 Nov 2011

Best Australian Short Film Award, new $1200 prize

Clare Valley Film Festival is delighted to announce a new prize package worth $1200 for the winner of the Best Australian Short Film Award sponsored by Clare Valley Business and Tourism Association.

This category, open to Australian filmmakers, gives the opportunity to have their film viewed by a judging panel of industry professional plus the chance to win the prestigious Best Australian Short Film Award and prize, presented at the CVFF Awards Gala on 31 March 2012!

We invite Australian filmmakers to submit their short films to the festival competition. Short films of any theme or genre can be entered. Further details of how to enter the Australian, International and Moving Image categories can be found on www.clarevalleyfilmfestival.com

"A key focus of the festival is the cultivation and nurturing of Australian filmmakers. In particular the festival's filmmaking workshops and the Clewers 24 Hour Film Challenge have become key events for filmmakers to engage in" said Clare Valley Film Festival Co-Director, Seeta Indrani.

Prize package includes:

- Flight for 2 people to the Clare Valley from anywhere in Australia
- Accommodation for 3 nights
- 2 Festival passes valued at $134
- Wine pack
- Tickets for the Awards Ceremony and after party hosted by Grosset Wines & Mount Horrocks Wines

Experience the rolling vineyards and rural-chic of South Australia's top regional film festival.

For more information please contact Clare Valley Film Festival info@clarevalleyfilmfestival.com

Image: Best Australian Short Film 2010 winner The Next El Masri, Matt Hawkins with Jury Chair, Rob George, and festival directors Seeta Indrani and Chris Bishop.

Australian Government
Festivals Australia

Media enquiries: Clare Valley Film Festival

PO Box 148, BLYTH SA 5462

Michelle Beltrame 0402 881 082

info@clarevalleyfilmfestival.com

www.clarevalleyfilmfestival.com